Jaipur is the capital and the largest city of the state of Rajasthan. The foundation of the city was laid in the early part of the 16th century by Sawai Jai Singh II, the ruler of Amer after whom the city is named. Jaipur is also known as the Pink City of India. Cycling in the morning hours is one of the interesting ways to see the city, wake up and compliment the beautiful art and architecture of the city.

We have a few itineraries that we follow in the city, visiting some famous local food stalls, some stunning temples, vegetables and flower markets and more, but the tour can always be customized to the guest's interest.
